Domaine du Tariquet is the brainchild of Yves Grassa, the brilliant French renegade who produces classy white wines in Gascony, a region historically known for its Armagnac, not still wine. His aromatic Sauvignon is fresh and smooth, layering the palate with juicy citrus flavors, soft minerality and a touch of prickly Kiwi fruit on the finish. Combining traditional French reserve with an outgoing fruit-forward profile, Grassa has pulled off a unique balancing act. And with a single-digit price tag, a bit of a miracle too.
